

Course Conditions

Entry

Entry is possible at any time by prior agreement as long as there are spots available and the participant's health has been determined to be acceptable.

Registration

Registration must be completed in writing together with a participation contract, which is binding and invokes a duty of payment of the course fees.

Injury/Liability

Participants are required to inform the instructor of any injuries or physical disorders or limitations. The participant bears responsibility for any examinations to determine physical eligibility for participation in courses. Sima Bürgin assumes no responsibility for injuries incurred during training sessions. Participants are responsible for their own insurance coverage. No liability will be assumed for accidents, thefts, property damage, or loss of personal effects.

Spring and fall semesters

The spring semester covers between 15 and 17 course weeks, depending upon the day of the course. The fall semester covers 22 course weeks. New entries pay the remaining lessons from the date of entry until the end of the current semester. No classes are held during the school holidays of the Bonstetten and Affoltern am Albis school systems. Missed sessions can be made up either before or afterwards by attending a class at a different time/date within the current semester.

Absences

Absences due to accident or illness that are accompanied by a doctor's attest will be credited to the next semester, starting on the date of the attest.

Course renewal

Course fees are to be paid either online or by payment slip at the start of each new semester. Please do not make cash payments at the post office, as that will incur additional fees.
